

Bio

Joining the team at Airbnb in May of 2015, Jason brings over 22 years of hospitality experience to his role in Business Travel. Over the past 16 years while living in the city of San Francisco, he held Director of Sales and Marketing positions with Hilton, Marriott and Wyndham Hotels.

At Airbnb, Jason works with a team of Business Travel professionals who are getting Airbnb for Business in place as an option for business travelers and companies all over the world. The team has helped companies like Salesforce, Morgan Stanley, Meritor, AOL, PayPal and thousands of others to incorporate Airbnb for Business into their travel programs. Those companies and their travelers are now enjoying access to the best homes, duty of care integrations, data capture, prioritized customer support, cost savings and the unique benefits of staying in a home while in business destinations all over the world.

Jason holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Industrial Relations from the University of North Carolina. Though North Carolina will always be home to him, he is proud to be raising his 10-year-old son in the midst of San Francisco's energy and diversity.
